WORLD ENERGY OUTLOOK

Moty Kuperberg is a graduate of the Department of Middle East History at the University of Haifa (1984), and has a post graduate Diploma in Business Administration of Shipping from the City of London Polytechnic, 1988.

He lectures in national forums about natural gas and LNG (Liquid Natural Gas), in energy conferences, in the MA Energy Management and Policy program at the University of Haifa, and at the Israeli Institute of Energy and Environment <http://www.energy.org.il>

He has over twenty years of experience in the field of shipping, and is the head of the LNG and off-shore development project at Dynamic Shipping Services.

As part of his work in the company, he acts as a consultant for organizations, companies and governments around the world, assisting in the development of the energy sector and LNG projects. Among other things, he has carried out projects for the Government of Cyprus and the Turkish national gas company BOTAS.

He attends several leading international conferences and conventions on energy each year, giving him direct access to seniors from the global oil and gas industry.

An expert on the combined interrelationship between energy/geopolitics/pricing and how they combine to influence the creation of real and imaginary energy crises.

He is the recent author of an insightful book on the subject (so far published in Hebrew only)- see bottom of page in <http://www.petroileumupstream.com/>

Another related article by Moty appeared in the LNG Industry Journal, here - <http://www.lngindustry.com/magazines/issue.aspx?seo=LNG-industry&month=3&year=2012> - 'Small scale solutions', Moty Kuperberg, Dynamic Shipping Services, Israel, explains the benefits of using the small scale LNG feeder system to supply consumers spread over many destinations.
